Season 1 (1966-67)

0. 1

The Cage
Der Käfig

Kirk’s predecessor Captain Christopher Pike, tries to rescue an earth crew that disappeared 18 years earlier, and finds himself trapped in an alien “zoo”.

This episode was the original pilot for the Star Trek series but was rejected by NBC because it was “too cerebral” and NBC wanted to make some changes, namely: the satanic-looking guy with the ears had to go (he didn’t) and a woman wasn’t allowed to be second in command.

1. 6 1966-09-08

The Man Trap
Das Letzte seiner Art

(Stardate 1513.1) Making a routine medical stop at planet M113 proves fatal for several crew members, with every ounce of salt mysteriously removed from their bodies.

2. 8 1966-09-15

Charlie X
Der Fall Charlie

(Stardate 1533.6) The lone survivor of a crash on the planet Thasus 14 years ago is transferred to the Enterprise by the Antares, whose crew seem eager to leave him. Suddenly the Antares is destroyed, and Charlie begins to display a power he cannot control.

3. 2 1966-09-22

Where No Man Has Gone Before
Spitze des Eisbergs

(Stardate 1312.4) The Enterprise nears a magnetic barrier at the edge of the galaxy, and Kirk’s friend Lt. Gary Mitchell is mutated. His emerging powerful ESP abilities threaten the safety of the ship.

4. 7 1966-09-29

The Naked Time
Implosion in der Spirale

(Stardate 1704.2) A research team on Psi 2000 is due to be evacuated, but the Enterprise finds the scientists dead. The germ from the scene is transmitted to the crew, causing a disturbing surfacing of suppressed emotions.

5. 5 1966-10-06

The Enemy Within
Kirk : 2 = ?

(Stardate 1672.1) A malfunction of the transporter slips Kirk into separate beings: one bestial, the other rational and sensitive.

6. 4 1966-10-13

Mudd’s Women

Die Frauen des Mr. Mudd

(Stardate 1329.1) The Enterprise rescues a ship’s crew at the expense of all but one of their dilithium crystals. The “captain” of the destroyed ship is space pirate Harry Mudd, the cargo: three beautiful women who hypnotise the men around them.

7. 10 1966-10-20

What Are Little Girls Made Of?

Der alte Traum

(Stardate 2712.4) The U.S.S. Enterprise hails Expo III in search for the eminent biologist, Dr. Roger Korby. To everyone’s surprise, Korby gladly responds to the Enterprise, inviting Kirk to beam down. Kirk finds out that Korby plans to duplicate people as androids so that war, strife and unhappiness can be programmed out of people and his first victim is to be Kirk.

8. 12 1966-10-27

Miri

Miri, ein Kleinling

(Stardate 2713.5) This tale of a world inexplicably a duplicate of Earth, where adults tried to stop ageing only to unleash a plague that would reduce the world’s population to just children. Kirk and crew find that this world’s children ageing a month every century. What is known to the children is that when they reach a certain age, they will contract a horrible deadly disease that strikes the landing party as soon as they beam down.

Shore Leave
Landurlaub

(Stardate 3025.5) Captain gives the fatigued crew a brake from duty on an earth-like planet, but encounters with a giant white rabbit, Samurai warrior, tigers, swordsmen, and a deadly black knight prove less than relaxing.

This show features—between Kirk and Finnegan—the longest fight sequence in the series if not in the history of television.

16. 14 1967-01-05

The Galileo Seven
Notlandung auf Galileo 7

(Stardate 2821.5) When Spock, McCoy and Scotty crash land on Taurus II in the shuttle craft, Spock must fight alien creatures and attempting to reach logical command decisions results in the death of several men. McCoy is a constant thorn in the first officer's side as the doctor challenges the wisdom and effectiveness of the Vulcan's rational approach to an irrational world.

17. 18 1967-01-12

The Squire Of Gothos
Tödliche Spiele auf Gothos

(Stardate 2124.5) The fun begins when the Enterprise encounters a strange planet and its even stranger inhabitant, a being dressed like an old English lord of the manor. He promptly kidnaps an assortment of crew members with which to populate his historical fantasies. Kirk's attempts to reason with Trelane or bargain for freedom make little headway against his manic romping and awesome powers.

18. 19 1967-01-19

Arena
Ganz neue Dimensionen

(Stardate 3045.6) When the U.S.S. Enterprise pursues Gorn vessel that attacked a Federation outpost, both ships enter the territory of the Metron race, who deposit Kirk and the alien captain on an deserted planet to settle their conflict in single combat.

The Devil In The Dark
Horta rettet ihre Kinder

(Stardate 3196.1) Pergium mining comes to a halt at a colony where miners are suddenly being killed by a creature who secrets acid and tunnels through rock.

This episode gave us our first real glimpse of the Vulcan mind-meld used to tremendous effect as Spock reveals the anger and anguish of a creature driven to defend itself and its offspring against forces it doesn't understand.

26. 27 1967-03-16

Errand Of Mercy
Kampf um Organia

(Stardate 3198.4) Kirk and Spock beam down to Organia and to warn of an oncoming invasion by the Klingons. Frustrated by the passive brush-off by the Oraganians, the captain and first officer are then stuck in the middle when the Klingons show up. The USS Enterprise officers wage a two-man guerrilla war against the invaders before the Organians reveal themselves to be ultra-powerful beings who force peace between the Enterprise and the Klingons.

27. 20 1967-03-23

The Alternative Factor
Auf Messers Schneide

(Stardate 3087.6) The crew encounters an odd man named Lazarus. It later become obvious that Lazarus is actually two distinct beings, each from a different dimension and each determined to destroy the other. As the Lazarus of the anti-matter universe passes through a dimensional portal, he causes an energy disruption that threatens the entire positive-matter universe.

This episode explores the duality of man, a recurring theme in Star Trek.

The Doomsday Machine
Planeten-Killer

(Stardate 4202.9) Commodore Matt Decker loses his crew, the men and women of the Constellation, to the planet-devouring appetite of the space-going ultimate weapon. With Kirk stuck aboard the helpless Constellation, Decker takes over the USS Enterprise. Finally, forcibly relieved of command by Spock (in the exchange that climaxes in the now-famous “Vulcans never bluff”).

36. 30 1967-10-27

Catspaw
Das Spukschloß im Weltall

(Stardate 3018.2) The Enterprise encounters two people who use magical means to convince the humans that they’re to be taken seriously when they say they are would be conquerors. While their powers play upon normal human superstitions, Spock remains singularly unaffected and oddly ignorant of the way the supernatural can affect humans fears. However their tricks prove to be nerve-wracking to Spock who must watch as first Sulu, the McCoy become zombies.

37. 41 1967-11-03

I, Mudd
Der dressierte Herrscher

(Stardate 4513.3) Harcourt Fenton Mudd stumbles on a planet full of androids just begging to serve and wanting to study him as a sample of Homo Sapiens. Harry brings a replacement sample, namely starship captain James T. Kirk. Then the androids announce their plan to use the Enterprise to go out and control humanity, which the androids see as an altogether self-destructive group of beings unable to run their own affairs.

The Savage Curtain
Seit es Menschen gibt

(Stardate 5906.4) On Excalbia, the inhabitants have such a different morality that good and evil are unknown concepts. Therefore, they snatch the USS Enterprise and force its officers to participate in a contest with beings plucked from Federation history. On the planet they meet figures such as Abraham Lincoln, Genghis Khan and Surak, a Vulcan philosopher.
